A New Electronic Journal

Sociological Research Online is a new international journal which promotes rapid communication among sociologists and is available free of charge on the internet. The first issue was published in March 1996.

The journal publishes fully refereed and high quality applied sociology, focusing on theoretical, empirical and methodological discussions which engage with current political, cultural and intellectual topics and debates.

Call for Papers

Sociological Research Online welcomes papers across the entire range of sociological concerns and interests.

If you would like to be kept informed about Sociological Research Online or are interested in submitting a manuscript:

- visit our website <http://www.socresonline.org.uk/socresonline>
- contact Stuart Peters, Department of Sociology, University of Surrey, Guildford GU2 5XH, <socres@soc.surrey.ac.uk>

Sociological Research Online is supported by the Joint Information Systems Committee's Electronic Libraries Programme. It is managed by a consortium of the Universities of Surrey and Stirling, the British Sociological Association and SAGE Publications.
Now Quarterly!

Current Sociology

Edited by Susan McDaniel University of Alberta

Each issue of this unique journal is devoted to a comprehensive Trend Report on a topic of interest to the international community of sociologists.

Authors review current trends and tendencies in all areas of sociological work - theories, methods, concepts, substantive research and national or regional developments.

Each Trend Report reviews new developments, discusses controversies, and provides extensive bibliographies.

Since its inception in 1952, Current Sociology has published Trend Reports by some of the world's leading sociologists.

The journal has covered topics of growing importance within the discipline such as the sociology of law, economic sociology, sociology of popular culture, sociology of time, and youth and society.

Current Sociology is published quarterly in Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter (ISSN: 0011-3921)

From School to Work
A COMPARATIVE STUDY OF EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS AND OCCUPATIONAL DESTINATIONS

Edited by YOSSI SHAVIT and WALTER MÜLLER

Some of the leading researchers in the field examine how educational qualifications affect the occupational outcomes of men and women in thirteen countries. The data reveals marked differences between countries in how education shapes occupational attainment, and indicates that these differences are related, in very systematic ways, to the institutional characteristics of school systems.

Social Issues
THE ETHICS AND ECONOMICS OF TAXES AND PUBLIC PROGRAMS

JOHN CRAWFORD WINFREY

Social Issues is a text for courses on social issues and policies. By combining perspectives from ethics, politics and economics, it delineates a ‘social ethics’ which can be combined with basic economic theory to analyse and address these public policy problems.

Submission of papers

The Editors will for the time being only consider for publication papers written in acceptable English. It will be the sole responsibility of the authors to ensure good linguistic quality. The European Sociological Review can provide some help with English language editing, but a check of the text by a native speaker is strongly recommended. Submissions of more than 12,000 words will be rejected immediately. All submissions of articles, notes or comments should be sent to the Editor, Hans-Peter Blossfeld, Institut für empirische und angewandte Soziologie, Universität Bremen, Postfach 33 04 40, D-28334 Bremen, Germany.

Reviews and review articles should be addressed to: Professor Wout Ultee, Department of Sociology, Faculty of Social Sciences, Catholic University of Nijmegen, PO Box 9104, NL 6500 HE Nijmegen, The Netherlands.

Contributors should send four hard copies of their submission. Submissions should be accompanied by the telephone and fax numbers and e-mail address of the corresponding author. We will also normally require a version of accepted submissions on floppy disc. Whilst the publishers can accept most computer and word processor discs, the preferred combinations are either PC MS DOS, PC WINDOWS or APPLE MAC, and either Microsoft Word or Wordperfect. Please note that the disc MUST be accompanied by a completed disc submittal form.

It is a condition of publication in the Journal that authors assign copyright to Oxford University Press. This ensures that requests from third parties to reproduce articles are handled efficiently and consistently and will also allow the article to be as widely disseminated as possible. In assigning copyright, authors may use their own material in other publications provided that the Journal is acknowledged as the original place of publication, and Oxford University Press is notified in writing and in advance.

Preparation of manuscripts

All material should be typed double spaced, and on one side of the page only. Ample margins should be left. The pages should be numbered serially.

An abstract of the paper of not more than 200 words should be supplied.

Up to two levels of sub- or cross-heads are permitted as a means of dividing up the text and indicating to the reader the structure of the article.

Each article should have a list of references of items cited in alphabetical order in the following style:

References should include only authors' initials, not full first names. Republished works (e.g. classics) should be referred to both by year of original publication and by year of publication of the edition quoted. All citations should then be placed within parentheses in the text: e.g. (Gans, 1962), (Gerth and Mills, 1948, ch. IV), (Spate, 1952, 415–16).

The list of references should be typed on separate pages.

Notes, when necessary, should be numbered continuously and will be printed as end notes. They should also be typed on separate pages. Acknowledgements should be placed at the end of the Notes.

All artwork (graphs, figures, diagrams, etc.) must be provided by authors in camera-ready form.

Articles submitted for publication must not be under consideration for publication elsewhere.

Authors are requested to provide full information on any prior publication in a non-English language.

Reasons for the rejection of articles will only be given if revisions are being recommended. Rejected manuscripts will not be returned to authors.

Reprints

Authors of full articles will receive a gratis copy of the issue, and the corresponding author will also receive 25 offprints or three gratis copies free of charge, and may obtain further offprints from Oxford University Press at their own expense.
